Dawson Students Hold General Election Today For Executive Council

Voting to Take Place In Gymn.
Polls Open 10 a.m. Until 4 p.m.

By SAM CHANDLER

How much does the election of a representative Students' Executive Council mean to the Dawson student body? The answer to this question will be known tonight when ballots are tallied at the close of the Dawson General Elections. "Every effort has been made," Mr. Hilliard, secretary-treasurer of the Council, said, "to acquaint the students not only with the purpose of the election but with the candidates and their platforms as well. Judging by the interest in the campaign to date, I expect a record vote."

Vote 10-4 In Gym.

Balloting will take place from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. today. Polls have been set up in the gymnasium and occupy the entire length of the left hand end of the floor. Voters will proceed through the several voting stations commencing at the end adjacent to the cafeteria. They will be required to furnish identification before voting. For those residing on the campus, meal tickets will suffice, while for commuters and others not possessing a meal ticket, library coupons, undergraduate society cards or other suitable identification must be shown. With the ballot boxes open continuously for six hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. it is anticipated that all students will have the opportunity to vote. "Early voting by those who can," said Mr. Hilliard, "will help to avoid queues during the later hours."

Offices Contested.

Offices for which all students are eligible to vote are those of: President of the Students' Executive Council, Chairman of the Canteen Committee, Chairman of the Mess Committee and Representative to the Athletic Board. In addition, Arts and Science men may vote for President of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society and Engineers for President of the Engineering Undergraduate Society. In all, each voter may cast five ballots.

Candidates.

Nominees for President of the Students' Executive Council are: Larry Brown, R. W. Camus, R. C. Gudgeon, Tom Hanson and Harold R. Phillips. For Chairman of the Canteen Committee there are Ed. B. Albury and N. J. Willis. Nominated for Chairman of the Mess Committee are L. L. Merrifield and J. K. Woodard. Contesting the position of Representative to the Athletic Board are Jeff Ganten and Harold Lazanik. Candidates for (Continued on Page 4.)

Youth Groups Join Forces In W.F.D.Y.

The World Federation of Democratic Youth held an informational meeting in Channing Hall on October 25. This organization consists of a number of youth groups which are joining forces with the general purpose of bettering the lot of youth the world over.

The conference is the first in Canada, and among the societies that sent representatives to the conference are the YWCA, the YMHA, Anglican, United Church, and Unitarian youth groups, the Montreal Jewish Youth Council, McGill committee of the NFCS, McGill SCM and Veterans' Society, the Federation of Labour and a number of unions, Jeunesse Inter-Allies, the Canadian Legion, and youth sections of all political parties.

Delegates heard Doris Senk, who represented the US at the World Youth Conference, outline the aims of the organization, and Leon Davichio, a McGill student who was a Yugoslav partisan during the war, spoke on his summer's trip to Yugoslavia. He stressed the role of young people in European reconstruction, making particular mention of his native country's Youth Railway.

Rev. Cyril H. Powles, dean of the Diocesan College, and Joseph, organizer in the International Fur and Leather Worker's Union, were co-chairmen.

Vets' Society To Hold First Open Meeting

Past work, future work and election of officers will be the main points on the agenda at the first general meeting of the McGill Students' Veterans' Society on Tuesday, October 29, in the Union Ballroom at 5 p.m.

Open to all student veterans at McGill, this first meeting of the 1946-47 session will concern itself mainly in acquainting ex-servicemen with the purpose and function of the Society, as well as reporting on the work which has already been done.

Len Starkey, president of the M.S.V.S., will present a general outline of the past work of the Society, dealing mainly with the positive aspects of the organization's accomplishments toward the understanding and the alleviation of the veterans' problems. Special emphasis will be placed upon the questionnaires which have been distributed, the briefs which have been sent to the proper government authorities, and the National Conference of Student Veterans which was held last December, and which was inaugurated by the McGill Society.

Future work of the organization will be discussed on the basis of the results compiled from the recent questionnaire which The Society issued. The work and attitudes of The Society toward employment, housing, and finances will be determined by the evidence manifested on the completed questionnaires. The work of compiling these results is in progress now.

A report on housing will be tendered by John Switzman, Housing director, while reports on membership and finances will also be heard.

Rounding out the agenda will be the elections of officers who will constitute the new executive body of The Society, and who will carry on the future work in the 1946-47 session.

Maritime University Starts Flying Club

McGill claims that it had the first flying club in a Canadian university. Toronto also declares that their campus group was the first to go "up in the air." Now the University of New Brunswick has a flying club which will soon be ready to dispute the honour.

The Fredrickton group met last week, and has already received permission to work on a landing field, and a strip of university land on which the field could be built.

"A number of former pilots are behind this club, which may be the forerunner of an Aeronautics department, as a college newspaper may, at length, lead to the establishment of a school of journalism," says the Brunswickian.

NFCUS Plans Panels' Start Meets Today

The second meeting of the McGill Committee of the N.F.C.U.S. has been called for 5:00 p.m. this afternoon in the Union Grill Room. The committee will complete its discussion of the year's program, and will elect a new treasurer.

This meeting gives a chance for further interested students to join the committee before the panels get underway later this week.

The executive has received a letter from William C. McVean, President of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, praising McGill for its initiative in organizing a local committee so early in the season. He stated that McGill University has set an example for other universities to follow.

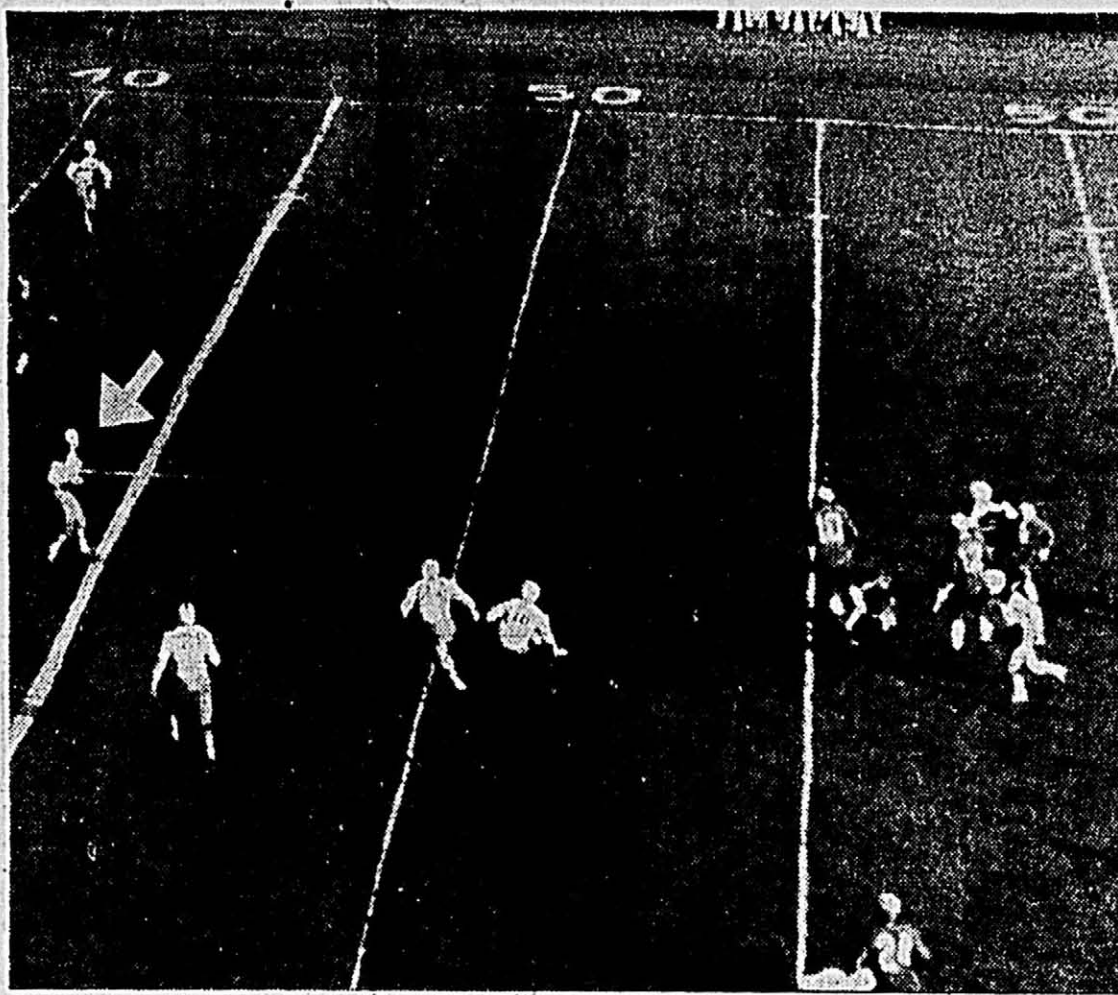

Several of the sub-committee chairmen have already been chosen by the executive, and it is expected that these panels will start meeting before the end of this week.

LABOR PROGRESSIVE PARTY CLUB.

Tonight, October 28, at 8 p.m., the L.P.P. club will meet in the Union Grill Room and the topic to be discussed is, "The Case for Nationalization." This subject has been chosen so that we may prepare ourselves for the coming Mock-Parliament when the C.C.F. club will present its bill, "The Nationalization of the Aluminum Co."

The subject has been changed from "Do Wages Determine Prices" as the Mock-Parliament is so close.

These meetings are not secret and therefore all students, as well as members, are urged to be present.

Quorum of 60 Is Necessary

Did you know that if you are a woman undergraduate you will find yourself the chief topic of conversation at the semi annual meeting of the Women's Union. To be held Tuesday, October 28, this meeting is designed to introduce the Union, to you, the women of McGill.

Following a four o'clock tea, Miss Anne MacDermott in charge, the meeting will take place in the common room of Royal Victoria College. Proceedings for this first function are scheduled to begin at five p.m., Miss Hedwig Brown presiding, and annual reports of each club sponsored by the union will be read. As you no doubt know, these clubs, thirteen in all, are formulated for the express purpose of providing social, cultural, and recreational activity for every woman in the university. A wide and varied program will be outlined for the coming year, and it is expected that there will be something of interest to everyone.

You have paid your dues if you are an undergraduate—come and see where your money goes!

Cafeteria Serves 3 Meals Daily Throughout Week: Starts at 12

The opening of a new cafeteria at 12 noon today in R.V.C. for all women students, resident and non-resident, has been announced by Dr. Muriel V. Roscoe, warden of Royal Victoria College.

The cafeteria, with a capacity for some one thousand meals a day, will be open seven days a week and will feature high quality food at low prices. Included on the menu, besides a la carte, will be full lunches at 45 cents, dinners at 50 cents, and a special 25-cent plate.

Meals will be served from 8.00 to 9.30 a.m., from 12.30 to 2.00 p.m., and from 6.00 to 7.00 p.m.

Dr. Roscoe pointed out that the cafeteria will remain open Saturdays and Sundays so that out-of-town students who live in rooms will be able to obtain low priced yet nourishing meals throughout the week and not only on school days.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS

In order to make certain that the cafeteria caters only to women at the University, students are asked to bring either their athletic books or library cards when they first visit the cafeteria. Upon pres-

Last Quarter Drive Fails Giving McGill Upset Grid Victory

Arts, Science Name Year's Class Officers

All positions on the class executives of the four years of Arts and Science, with three exceptions, have been filled, following the elections last Friday. The three remaining officers are to be appointed by the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society Executive, as no nominations were received for their positions. All other candidates have been voted in, or elected by acclamation.

The officers from the various years are as follows:

First Year: President — to be appointed; vice-president — Natalie Fochs; secretary — Barbara Watson; treasurer — Michael Lewis.

Second Year: President — to be appointed; vice-president — Rosalind Cohen; secretary — Martha Morgan; treasurer — to be appointed.

Third Year: President — Paul Betts; vice-president — Pauline Humphreys; secretary — Ann Macfarlane; treasurer — Jack Busby.

Fourth Year: President — David Common; vice-president — Joan Mason; secretary — Harriet Anderson; treasurer — Merrill Stalker.

The student response, both in nominating and voting, was very slight, except in First Year, according to Richard Tremaine, Chief Returning Officer for the election.

In that year only were there sufficient nominations to afford a contest in Friday's election.

The names of the remaining class officers will be published in The Daily as soon as they have been appointed.

VETS HOUSING

There will be a meeting of the Veterans' Housing Committee in the west end of the Union Ballroom on Tuesday, 29 October at 1 P.M. A special report on the co-operative project will be given by John Switzman. There have been some interesting developments during the past few days. A full turnout of the Committee and all those interested is urged.

16,000 Witness Close Contest.

The McGill grid squad lost a football game on Saturday afternoon, but they won the admiration and respect of the 16,000 spectators and of the victorious opponents, the University of Western Ontario Mustangs. For the fighting Redmen survived a series of disastrous breaks to come surging back in a great last quarter drive that threatened to send the Mustangs down to defeat for the first time in their last 14 intercollegiate contests. The Purple and White visitors emerged with a 12-7 victory, but not without having their lead placed in jeopardy on several occasions in the closing minutes.

Enthusiastic Crowds

It was a crowd-pleasing, spiculating contest that thrilled the grid fans who swarmed into every available nook and cranny at Molson Stadium. Wide open football was featured by both squads, and the stands were kept in continual uproar as the Red and Purple crews clashed in unrelenting battle.

In the initial half it looked as if the Mustangs were going to repeat their easy victory of the previous week as they rolled into scoring position time and again. Their first opportunity came when Bob Macfarlane attempted a placement from McGill's 36 yard line, but John Newman drove through to block the kick.

Farley Leads Offensive

A couple of minutes later the London lads were moving again, as Chiocki intercepted a McGill pass at the Redmen's 50 yard line. The great Mustang offensive, sparked in this instance by Dick Farley, carried the ball to a first down on the Red five yard stripe. But a spirited McGill wing line led by Captain Alan Mann threw the Metras men for a total loss of twenty yards on the next three plays.

Mann, who played a terrific game at snapback for the Redmen, distinguished himself a few plays later when he intercepted a Western pass and ran the ball 25 yards to midfield.

McGill Rallies

At the start of the second quarter, Doug Heron kicked the pigskin to the Western 20, at which point the Mustangs unleashed a concerted drive which carried them (Continued on Page 4.)

Dawson Elections

The recent faculty elections and the periodic club elections which have taken place on the campus recently appear to have exhausted the variations on the election theme. However, today's elections at Dawson College may be considered far more important than the usual in that the results will have a profound influence on the success or failure of student endeavor at Dawson, which, in turn, will affect the attitude and happiness of every student at St. John's.

We have already made periodic reference to the difference in status of students and student government at Dawson, due in the main to the infancy of McGill's latest branch. There has not been the usual period of trial and error which often brings best results only after many years; nor has there been a system of precedents by which students could measure the relative importance of the various phases of student life and government.

This election, however, sees a happier state of affairs than has existed at Dawson since its inception. The early period of disorganization has largely been overcome, while many of the small and seemingly unimportant things, which in actuality make the difference between a satisfied and a dissatisfied student, have been included among campus facilities.

Still, the campus cannot be expected to function by itself, nor through the efforts of staff alone. There is a dire need for student self-government—for representation which will ensure the fulfillment of student wishes. It is for this that the students are going to the polls today.

The platforms of the various candidates have appeared in the columns of The Daily. There has been a well-attended meeting at which candidates have been introduced, and where they presented their aims for improvement once again. There is no excuse for not voting. The atmosphere of a small campus where all students are grouped together within a limited area should normally be conducive to a good spirit. One of the ways in which this spirit may be manifested is by a good turnout today at the polls.—A.K.

Here to Stay?

The need for another cafeteria on the campus has long been apparent both to students and to the administration. The need has become a necessity with the record enrolment of students over the last two years. Today, however, marks the move to fill this need with the opening of a large, new cafeteria in the Royal Victoria College.

Along with serving this latter purpose, the cafeteria marks another step on the road to complete acceptance of women students at McGill. For never has there been a place on the campus where all women students could eat full meals. The previous cafeteria at R.V.C. was able to accommodate only residents, while the facilities at the Union have been overtaxed by men students alone.

Slowly, but surely, it appears that women students are here to stay.—A.K.

The Forge—

McGill's literary magazine, THE FORGE, will have two issues this year—winter and spring, 1947—provided that a sufficient number of contributions are handed in. This is essential for the livelihood of the publication. Every creative composition will be considered by a sympathetic and democratic board of editors. Short stories, articles, poems, plays and any other types of genuine or extravagant invention are welcome. These sparks of genius should be legibly written or typed and given to George in the Union Tuck Shop or Walter in his office in the Arts Building, marked clearly for THE FORGE and with the contributor's name, course and year.

To those who are unacquainted as yet with the magazine perhaps several words of information would be in order. THE FORGE is an unpretentious college effort devoted to the printing of student material and has appeared on the campus once or twice a year (usually once) since 1938. It has had to struggle against many odds, especially during the war years from which it has just emerged, and its sustenance is the support of contributing McGill students. In the past, serious writers, like Constance Berestford-Howe, have required a more permanent form for their work and found it in THE FORGE. This year, with such a large student body, THE FORGE is more than ever necessary to meet the demands of aspiring writers.

But do not get the impression that THE FORGE is high-brow, blue-stocking or long-hair. A surprising number of students from other faculties besides Arts have been represented in contributions. In actual print in the past two years the faculties of Arts and Science, Engineering, Medicine and Architecture have been notably emphasized. (Come on Commerce!) And the editorial boards have consisted of variously enthusiastic students.

Plans for two issues were made possible by the helpful encouragement of the Student Council. Now is the time to write... With the deadline set at December 15th for contributions to the Winter 1947 edition, don't delay. Do not hesitate about contributing... Everybody writes... You can't lose... Articles especially are needed... First and Second Year students have just as much chance as others... Veterans are particularly asked to write. Arrangements will be made shortly for receiving contributions out at Dawson and Macdonald, or they may be mailed in to the university... This is your chance... WRITE NOW FOR "THE FORGE".

Time and Tide

Three people sat on a bench in Dominion Square. It was late Saturday afternoon and they were almost the sole occupants of the park.

There was a little old lady, and beside her a foreign looking man. The third was a young girl, wearing a bandana.

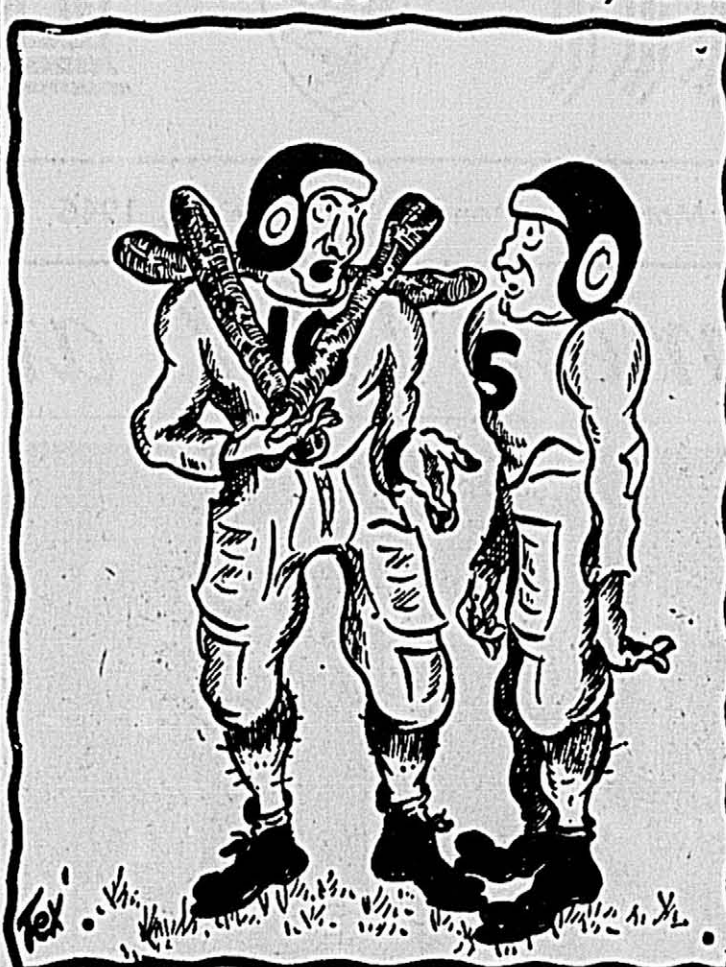

They sat there, apparently ignoring each other, feeding the pigeons. The birds fluttered around them, perching on their shoulders, strutting in front of them, and squabbling over the pop-corn. Then the old lady rose, and began to search in one of the waste baskets which are scattered through the park. Soon she returned with some old newspapers. Suddenly there was a flutter of wings. And the young man wrapped a pigeon, its neck neatly wrung, in a piece of the paper. He placed the bundle on his lap and started to scatter corn again. The silly pigeons kept coming back.

Soon there were six neat bundles on the man's lap. Each of the occupants of the bench took two parcels, rose, and left the park by a different path, they met on the corner and got into a street car.

All the while, the pigeons strutted about, pecking at the remaining bits of corn.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Adelaida Abarca was arrested at sixteen and sentenced to thirty years in prison—Jose Encinas and Sanchez Hernandez have been falsely arrested and are in danger of being executed—950 youth in Alcalá de Hernandez prison are kept in isolation and subject to tortures—800 youth in the prison of Burgos have been on a hunger strike protesting the inhuman penalties—the ferocity of Franco against the underground intensifies day by day.

But this does not intimidate the anti-Franquist youth of Spain, on the contrary it spurs them on to fight with greater strength until the day when Spanish Youth like the youth of the rest of the world has gained liberty and progress and the right to education, sports and happiness. On July 19th 14,000 leaflets were distributed and four Republican flags flew in daylight in Madrid.

"From our fighting post we appeal to you with urgency to intensify your help for our unequal but heroic fight. This fight is also your own, because franquism, like all fascist regimes, contains the seeds of new wars, which may plunge again into desolation and death the world which has just been liberated from nazism."

"You can give us your help by working in every country to reveal the real character of the Fascist regime of Franco, to urge the Governments of all countries to break of diplomatic and commercial relations with Spain and to demonstrate for the cessation of terror and persecution in Spain."

From our heroic and invincible Madrid we pledge our determination to fight until the total destruction of the Franco Phalange."

(Excerpt from letter from the United Socialist Youth of Spain.)

I think that it is time for our government to change its policy of non-intervention, which helped Hitler and Mussolini place Franco in Spain and lay its support solidly behind the Republican Government of Dr. Giral.

The Movies

THE SEARCHING WIND

The story of international appeasement towards Germany and Italy is the current fare being shown at the Capitol in "The Searching Wind", which was based on Lillian Hellman's Broadway play of the same name.

The motive behind the picture is admirable and is really the only worthwhile feature, as the casting is very poor with the exception of Ann Richards and Dudley Digges, who played their roles as best they could, considering the many faults in the plot.

As Hollywood always deems necessary, the eternal triangle was introduced into the plot involving a diplomat, a newspaperwoman and the daughter of a newspaper publisher. This was played up to such an extent that the real events are mere shadows in the background. Robert Young and Sylvia Sydney were entirely unconvincing as the harassed diplomat and the worried newspaperwoman, while Ann Richards and Dudley Digges as the publisher and his daughter did their utmost to save the show.

However, in spite of the many and varied faults that the picture may be guilty of, they are offset by the idea behind the plot, namely that of trying to clear up the political skulduggery which took place during the years between the two World Wars. Paramount Studios are to be congratulated for their honest effort in this respect, for although their pictures may be lacking in technicalities it is still a very good piece of entertainment.

EASY TO WED

Van Johnson, Lucille Ball, Esther Williams and Keenan Wynn, star in "Easy to Wed", being held over at the Palace Theatre. It is a gay comedy—with stars like Wynn and Lucille Ball, nothing could be dull. The technicolor is charming, the sets beautiful, and the costumes quite dazzling this reporter.

The lighthearted plot includes—libel—lady killers—(no, no murder, only romance)—double crossing—bosses and stooges—and the now classical girl fights over Van Johnson. On the whole, it is a pleasant picture—lively, gay, pleasing to the eye and ear.

KILROY WAS HERE

This awful fellow Kilroy,
He's here, he's there, he's every-

This awful fellow Kilroy.

His name's on every car door,
His face on every bar floor,
On every wall you see his scrawl,
On every small cigar store.

His playful antics bore me,
The strain is too much for me.
In tramway line at ten to nine
He's always there before me.

His epitaph will make me laugh:

LETTER FORUM

The Editor, McGill Daily,
Dear Sir,—McGill is Canada's best known university and as such the students should be proud of their Alma Mater and be out to cheer her in force at college sports.

The crowd was out last Saturday but not to cheer. The people went with a pessimistic attitude throughout. They expected to lose.
The twenty men wearing the Red and White didn't think so and nearly upset the Western apper-cart. On the field we were a match for the Mustangs but on the sidelines we were not.

The Western band was a smart looking aggregation. They went through their manoeuvres as if they knew what they were doing and their manner of playing out-shone the McGill band completely. Their sporting gesture in playing "James McGill" after the McGill touch was noted and appreciated by many who attended the game.

The London cheering section was not large but it sure out-sounded the local delegation. They pepped the team up considerably but perhaps they had something to cheer with in the presence of their cheer leaders. They looked typically collegiate and the female leaders added a distinctive air to the group. It is too bad that McGill is the sole college in the circuit without female cheer leaders. To those who claim it is unladylike, I can safely say that those who were at the game didn't consider the London beauties unladylike.

On the field, McGill men like Hayes and Bridel were dead on their feet in the last few minutes but they continued to give their all for their university as long as there was any breath in them. The McGill student body showed an apathy which has been prevalent in McGill activities throughout my stay here.

Montreal is not a college town but to use that as an excuse for laziness in vocal support of the team or for absence from other activities, is sheer rationalization. The Redmen Regain Tait-Mackenzie Track Trophy

McGill Tracksters Eke Out Close Win In Queen City Meet

By MARV SHILLER

Toronto, October 25.—Well, they brought back the little man. The 19 stalwarts comprising the McGill Track Squad copped the Tait MacKenzie Trophy in one of the most dramatic finishes ever recorded in Intercollegiate track history.

With all events but the mile relay finished, the score between McGill and Toronto was all even with 66 points. In the ensuing event the Western quartet, led by the MacFarlane brothers, Don and Bob, romped to an easy win. R. Armour Forse and Andre Lamontagne opened up with a lead over Toronto, which Dick Pennefather and captain Andy Gillespie were able to maintain, to cop the bunting. In the final lap Queen's nosed out Varsity and the result of the meet was official with McGill with 69 points, Toronto 67, Western 17 and Queen's 7.

Blues Smother Gael Gridders By 39-7 Count

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 26.—(CUP)—Pilling up 23 points in a razzle-dazzle first quarter, University of Toronto Blues smothered Queen's 39-7 in a senior Intercollegiate football game before 18,000 fans here Saturday.

VARSITY PASSING
Chief Varsity weapons were the long floater passes of Mel Lawson and hipper-dipper extension plays of Doty, Cranham and Myers. Myers and Doty each scored two touchdowns with Lawson and Cranham each plunging over for a major. A placement and three converts by Bark, Toogood's convert and Lawson's kick to the deadline completed the Varsity scoring. Ironman Dave Rozumniak, who played the whole game until injured late in the third quarter, scored the only Queen's touchdown midway through the second quarter. Rozumniak and Ted Porter each kicked singles.

The Blues' first touchdown came after four minutes when a Doty-Cranham-Myers extension starting at the Varsity 34 shook Myers loose for a 45-yard touchdown run. Three minutes later Myers scored again on Lawson's 30-yard forward.

LAWSON AGAIN
Another end run brought Varsity to Queen's one-yard line, and Lawson plunged over. After a Queen's fumble, Lawson floated a 40-yard pass to Doty for Toronto's fourth touchdown.

Two passes by Rozumniak brought Queen's to Toronto's five and Rozumniak plowed across just as the half ended. Lawson pitched another Varsity touchdown pass to Doty and Bark converted just as the third quarter ended.

Varsity got another touchdown in the closing minutes of the game when a Mel to Gord Lawson pass paved the way for Cranham's touchdown.

McGill Intermediate Rugby Twelves Defeated By Eastwards, Loyola in Local Grid Competition

Meteors Clipped By Loyola Squad As English Stars

Defeating the McGill Meteors 17-0 last Saturday afternoon, the Loyola football squad surged to the lead in the Intermediate Intercollegiate rugby league. Playing on their home grounds the west-end collegians capitalized on the breaks of the game to avenge their former defeat at the hands of the local squad. Scoring two touchdowns in the first half the Marriot coached team showed a fast, quick-breaking game. The Meteors coming out for the second half, showed however that their reputation was not entirely home-brewed, and played inspired ball all the way down the stretch. In the third quarter the Taylor crew were again scored against on an intercepted lateral. This seemed to strengthen, rather than discourage, the squad who in desperation opened up the game with passes and sweeping end runs, however to no avail.

FIRST MAJOR
The first touchdown was made by Loyola's Keith English, who on an end run, off kick formation, hipper-dipped his way through 30 yards of Meteor gridders for the major. Tightening on the line, the convert was effectively blocked. Play resumed with centerfield the battleground, until near the end of the second quarter. On a third down attempt to kick by Jim Atkinson of the Meteors from his own 35, the Loyola line surged through to block and knock the piskin down. A try by quarter back Lou Lemieux to recover the ball failed when it was kicked beyond his reach and over the goal line to be recovered by English of Loyola. The convert by McCorney was successful.

The third quarter featured the offensive power of the Meteors with outstanding plunges by mid-dies Pat Wickham and Tom Carroll and end running by Bill Cave and Rogers. Quarter Elliot Turcot attempted three passes with two completed. One of these thrown to Bob Legge for thirty yards was called back and set up the local collegians for the spot in which Loyola again scored.

pass thrown off the play formation was intercepted by Brian Danahar of Loyola. Just as he was tackled he shoved the piskin up and out. Keith English scooped in the ball and ran the remaining 15 yards for the third major of the day. The convert was blocked by rushing insiders Geoff Ince and Dave Townsend, who with the aid of outsiders Jackallin and McBoyle pulled down kicker Mossdell.

In the closing minutes of the game the Meteors desperately took

Dawson Walloped 28-3 by Leaders Of QRFU League

By SCOOP PEARL
Dawson College's Q.R.F.U. championship aspirations went down with the evening sun, Saturday afternoon, as the powerful Eastward aggregation ripped through the St. Johns gridmen by a decisive 28-3 score before three thousand onlookers at Vickers Field. The outstanding star in the contest was shifty backfielder Dave Riddell of the victors who scored three touchdowns, but he was closely followed by eastender Stan Rose, who turned in an exceptional performance at centre half. Blond-thatched Al Humphreys, Howie Hogan and Lorne Oakes were outstanding from a Dawson viewpoint.

DAWSON SCORES
Dawson opened up the game in the right manner by scoring their total output in the first minute of play. Rose kicked off for the eastenders, and the ball was snatched on the Dawson 22-yard line. On the very next play, Hogan flipped a beautiful pass to Humphreys, who ran eighty yards up the field to evade half the Eastward's squad, and give the collegians a five-point lead. Lorne Oakes converted to make the score read 6-0 for the first minute of play before an astonished crowd. From that point onwards, however, Eastward was in command of the play. In the next manoeuvre, Edwards bucked the line for 20 yards, and Rose booted a rouble for the blue-and-white aggregation.

Several plays later in the first quarter, a "fake" manoeuvre by eastender Edwards, brought the ball to the Dawson four yard line and backfielder Rose carried it across the scoring ribbon in a well-executed plunge on the next play, tying the score up at 6-apiece.

POWER LINE
Humphreys and Timmins brought the ball deep into enemy territory in the second quarter, and it was only the unrelenting work of the victors' line that prevented scoring. Midway through this session, Rose kicked from the Dawson 45 on a third down. Fumbled by the St. John's squad's backfield, the ball was taken by Hogan, who was hit; and the ball was pounced on (Continued on Page 4.)

Red Rugger Squad Topples Varsity, 9-3 In Toronto Opener

Saturday morning saw the McGill English Rugby team off to a flying start in their 2-game home-and-home series with Varsity. When the final whistle blew, the Red team walked off the field with a 9-3 verdict tucked under their belts.

Play opened with Varsity kicking off to McGill. For the first 15 minutes neither side had any particularly good scoring opportunities. At this point in the game Toronto seemed to be a little more aggressive—while the McGill boys seemed to be still trying to un-track themselves.

TORONTO OPENS SCORING
At almost the 20 min. mark of the first half, the first break in the game occurred and it was Toronto who drew the first blood, with Zimmerman, a fast breaking forward on the Toronto team, following a long kick up and scooping it up to run over the line for the first touchdown of the game. Varsity's kick for convert failed with the score now standing 3-0 in favor of Toronto. This seemed to inject new spirit into the McGill team, and as the whistle blew for half-time the Red team was really pressing Toronto.

The second half started with McGill kicking off to Toronto and the Redmen immediately started to pick up where they left off at the end of the first half.

REDMEN RALLY
For the first five minutes the play was continually in the Toronto end. At the 7 min. mark, from a scrum on the Toronto 35 yd. line, McGill heeled the ball cleanly to Brewerton who ran for 15 yds. before passing to Tetley who went over for the Red team's first score. Simpson's attempt for convert failed and the score now stood at 3 all.

This seemed to be the signal for McGill really to open up. Soon McGill was awarded a penalty kick on the Toronto 25 yd. line from a slight angle. Simpson's attempt for a penalty goal missed by inches.

At this point, the McGill scrum was outbalancing Toronto by a wide margin and this gave the McGill backfield a good chance for some fine plays—with Gillespie moving up from fullback to spark some really beautiful plays.

The second McGill score originated from centre field with Bell breaking through to pass to Anderson who galloped 30 yds. to go over standing up. Brewerton's attempt at convert was low.

With play drawing to a close, what looked to your observer to be the "prettiest" play of the game saw Gillespie running 35 yds., "faking" two Toronto players and passing to Simpson who went over for the final score of the game. Simpson's attempt at convert failed.

Although there were, no doubt, some individual starts, it was the McGill scrum that really carried the team to victory. They were magnificent, to say the least, overwhelming the Toronto team by a wide margin and staying on the ball continually.

Dawson-McGill Teams Tie 2-2 In Soccer Opener on Saturday

By DAVE RABOY

Early last Saturday afternoon, before the crowds gathered for the McGill-Western football match, two soccer teams battled it out to a 2-2 draw in the first game of the newly organized Montreal district soccer league. Representing Dawson College and McGill University, both teams were pretty anxious to win this match, the first of a home-and-home series between the two.

SLOW START
Getting off to a slow start, at one-third, the game didn't warm up until the first goal had been scored by McGill. It was a beautifully-placed kick from the right wing which caught the goalie, Feinstat, completely by surprise. Coming after about ten minutes of play, it was the signal which started the boys playing soccer in earnest.

As the game got well into the first half, the Dawson team put on one of their power plays, dribbled and passed until the ball was almost down to the McGill goal, and got ready to score. But Samuels, the McGill net-tender, stopped the ball, dribbled it out a few feet and kicked. The kick was successfully blocked by Craig, Dawson's fast little centre-forward, and the ball bounded across the line to tie the score. The first half ended with the score still tied at 1-1.

DAWSON LEADS

Dawson took the lead in the second half when Craig got the ball past Samuels to score a second time for his team. Cy Craig, by the way, is the lad who has kept scoring honors all to himself. He made both goals in this game and scored twice for Dawson in the exhibition match against McGill held two weeks ago at this same upper stadium.

As the game drew to a close it looked as though Dawson was going to win. But in a final thrust McGill went in and shot the ball past Feinstat to tie the score and end the game at 2-2.

Cage Tryouts Set for Today Under Davies

McGill's senior basketball club has lined up a 15 game schedule for the coming season, not to mention the numerous contests to be played by the respective intermediate squads. So that Lou Davies should have a host of talent turning out tomorrow at the initial practice of the cage hopefuls.

Considering the fact that the opener in the cage competition this year is on December 7 against Clarkson College, it hardly seems that the practices are being called too early. After this opener at home, the Red and White cagers hit the road for four away games across the border against their old rivals Middlebury and Vermont colleges in order; then tackle Teacher's College of Buffalo and St. Bonaventure College.

RETURN GAME.
A return game with Vermont, at the Sir Arthur Currie Gym., and a battle with the strong University of New Brunswick team, will round out McGill's pre-schedule preps before they start their own Big Four College race against Queen's at Kingston, Saturday, February 8.

All in all it is the most pretentious cage schedule ever mapped for a McGill Club. In taking on six American College clubs, Coach Lou Davies thinks the experience will stand his outfit in good stead when they hit the trail against the Galloping Gaels and the high-powered Varsity and Western clubs.

FORMER PLAYERS
Among the holdovers from last year, are George Davidson, Sam Roth, Ken Hoyle, Phil Weisberg, Lou Zalkind, and Manny Schacter. These hoopers will no doubt form the backbone of this year's senior intercollegiate squad, while men such as Kaszas and Duford of Dawson basketball fame will now aid in supplementing the previously mentioned powerhouse. Alouettes Maintain Win Streak By Defeating Hamilton 21-16

What might have turned out to be an upset of the proverbial apple-cart actually materialized into another victory for the Alouettes grid machine yesterday afternoon at Delorimier Downs. Trailing on the short end of a 10-0 count through the second quarter, the Montreal Big Four entry moved into high gear and made the final result read Alouettes 21, Hamilton Tigers 16.

The scoring got under way early in the first quarter, with Hamilton garnering one point when Richman was rouged behind his own goal line. An injury to big John Moody at this point paved the way for Dave Greenburg, Al's quarterback, to take over the kicking role. After kicking to his own 35-yard line, the Tigers nabbed a series of three successive first downs, to put Mincovitch over for the major, which Scotty Wright converted. This lone major in the first quarter made the score 7-0 in favor of the visiting team.

ALS TALLY
Soon after the second quarter had started, Doug Smith of the Tigers went through the Al's line for a 12-yard run, giving his squad their first down, and subsequent placement kick for three points by Mincovitch. Following this, a fumble by Doug Smith was recovered by Herb Trawcyk of the Als, which set the stage for Captain Ches McCance to kick a placement from a most difficult angle. After a 45-yard runback by fleet-footed Joe Richman, Virg Wagner exercised his throwing arm and threw a 35-yard payoff pass to Matt Anthony. The touchdown was converted by McCance and this ended the scoring for the first half: Hamilton 10, Alouettes 9.

The only score in the third quarter came after four minutes of play, when a poor kick by Wright of the Tigers brought the ball to his own 27. Continuous plunging, and consistent lateral plays, put the piskin on the Tigers 6 yard line, and Wagner plunged through for a major score. The touch was converted by McCance, and the score at the end of the third quarter was 15-10 in favor of the Als.

FOURTH QUARTER THRILLS
Only the last few minutes of the last quarter provided the thrills for the entire game. The score had been brought up to 21-16 for the home team, through the phenomenal running of meteor-like Joe "Twinkle Toes" Richman; who ran 60 yards to hit paydirt after having received a pass from Wagner (Continued on Page 4.)

Three Receive Degrees—New Building Opened

Scientists Awarded McGill Doctorates; Cyclotron Displayed

Dr. Bohr who delivered the main convocation address, said that the fundamental discovery at McGill by Rutherford, had spread to other countries, bringing about a "whole new era in natural philosophy. 'We must trust', said Dr. Bohr, 'that the fate of all mankind will not end, but will lead to peaceful co-operation between nations.'

The convocation prayer was given by Rev. Clifford Knowles, student's counsellor at Dawson College.

An overflow audience crowded Meysse Hall for the ceremonies, which were attended by many visiting scientists, including Dr. C. J. MacKenzie, chairman of the National Research Council of Canada. His Worship Mayor C. J. Houde was present.

Following the convocation ceremony, a visit of inspection was made to the radiation laboratory and the cyclotron. Placed on exhibition were the relatively simple homemade instruments used by Rutherford in his historic research work. The cyclotron, second largest in the world, and the first in Canada, provided the highlight of the inspection tour. It is expected that the 275 ton instrument will be in actual operation by next summer. After the official party had inspected the laboratories, the building was open to the public, and several hundred visitors were able to see the cyclotron.

by opportunist Dave Riddell in the Dawson end zone for an additional five points for the Eastward team. Rose's conversion attempt hit the goal post. Near the end of the first half, Dick Swarbrick kicked a rolling ball into the Dawson end zone, for one point.

Coming into the second half trailing by an 11-6 score, the Dawsons made a valiant attempt to score again as Oakes and Timmins ran the ball up the field. Midway through this third session, a Dawson fumbled ball was kicked within a few yards of the collegians' end zone, and Riddell ran it across to bring his team's score up to 17-6.

No further scoring took place until the last quarter, when Fred Walker plunged through a brick-like Dawson line for another touchdown. Rose converted to raise the score to 23-6. The final score of the afternoon came as the result of an aerial attack, Terry Gilead passing to Riddell who scored his third touchdown.

But as previously stated, the thrills came in the last few minutes of the game. Groom, of the Tigers, completed a forward pass and ran 40 yards to bring the ball to the Al's five yard line, where he was brought down by Spencer and Greenburg. After holding the line twice (two minutes to go) the Al's were penalized half the distance to the goal line for roughing—putting the piskin on the 2½. In the end, the heavy line of the

to the air. Turcot passed successfully to "Herky" Landry twice and made yards plunging himself, but time ran out and the game ended with the final score of 17-0 in favor of Loyola.

to the McGill 11 on five consecutive first downs. But again the steady McGill defence stopped the visitors, and a third down pass was incomplete when it struck the goalpost.

At this point the Redmen commenced to open up and a nice piece of blocking by Bob Bartlett paved the way for a 22 yard gain by Whizzer Smith. A McGill kick forced the Western team deep into their own territory, and when a Mustang lateral went awry, the Redmen roused Downe for a single point. Smith almost had his hands on the bounding ball for the Redmen but didn't quite manage to hang on to it. At half time the score read McGill 1, Western 0.

Tie Score
Western evened the score at the start of the second half when Hayes fumbled the ball at the McGill goal line and Bartlett fell on it behind the line for a Western rouge. The Mustangs clicked for their first touchdown a few plays later when they drove over from the McGill 35 with the aid of a 10 yard roughing penalty. Bob Macfarlane went over from the four for the score. The convert was no good.

Another McGill offensive carried the ball into Mustang territory and a Porter kick placed the ball on the Purple and White one-yard line. Western kicked to McGill and the Redmen had the ball on the Mustang 35 when Chocki intercepted a Smith pass at the start of the fourth quarter and ran it to the McGill 42.

After adding another first down, the Mustangs scored from the McGill 22, when Bob Macfarlane lateraled to brother Don who lapped across the line. Ballantyne converted.

Taking the ball on their own 40, the Redmen, sparked by the consistent ground-gaining of Murray Hayes and Tommy Bridel, drove straight up the field. Bridel went over from the three on the third down, carrying half the Purple team with him. Heron converted.

When Heron kicked off following the touchdown, McGill was given the ball on the Western 52 because of Western interference. The Redmen gained nine yards on two plays, but on the crucial third down the Mustangs swarmed in to halt Walt Kowal a few inches short of a first down. On the last two plays of the game Smith completed two lovely passes to Finlay for a total gain of 42 yards.

Niels Bohr, Physicist, Outlines Development of Atomic Bomb

By CHARLE McHALE

Professor Niels Henrik David Bohr, one of the world's foremost theoretical physicists, was the principal speaker at the Convocation in Meysse Hall last Friday.

McGill University, Dr. Bohr observed, while connected with many fields of learning, is held in especially high esteem by physicists as the "place where the foundation was laid for so large a part of our modern physics".

It was Ernest Rutherford, following the work of Becquerel and the Curies, who brought forth the view that in radio-active phenomena we were concerned with the spontaneous transformation of the atom itself. Rutherford amassed an enormous amount of evidence concerning the transformations of whole families of atoms, studying at the same time the radiations which accompany these changes.

Fundamental Discovery.
From the MacDonald Professorship, Rutherford was called to the University of Manchester, where he soon gathered together a group of "young and enthusiastic" physicists from various parts of the world. Here he came to the fundamental discovery of the atomic nucleus. Planck's quantum theory was then used to explain some of the many problems, and this "inaugurated a whole new era in natural philosophy".

Dr. Bohr paid tribute to Dr. John S. Foster, present occupant of the MacDonald Professorship, for his work on the effect of an electric field on spectra lines, which he described as offering "evidence of great importance for the testing of new ideas".

Radio Activity
Another milestone, the speaker continued, "was the discovery of artificial radioactivity by the daughter and son-in-law of the immortal Curies."

by stating that the spirit behind the investigations he had described was the desire to increase our knowledge and deepen our understanding. This was the spirit in which Rutherford laboured here at McGill, and the new Radiation Laboratory, Dr. Bohr said, is "based on traditions as fine as we can provide".

Dr. Bohr frequently spoke of a new discovery as the result of a "fruitful international collaboration." Also, with a great modesty, he failed to mention his own part in the development of modern physics.

New Atom.

In 1912 Bohr joined the Rutherford group at Manchester, having spent a year in post-doctoral work with Sir J. J. Thomson at the Cavendish Laboratory, Cambridge. At this time, the group was absorbed in tracing out the consequences of Rutherford's discovery of the atom's nucleus. The new atom consisted of a nucleus at the centre, surrounded at comparatively great distances by electrons, in the same way that the sun is surrounded by the planets.

Dr. Bohr, in applying the quantum theory, modified this Rutherford conception. In the "Bohr atom", electrons could, if undisturbed, circle the nucleus in any one of several orbits. If this balance were upset, however, the electron would jump to an inner orbit, emitting radiations of a frequency determined by quantum considerations.

CORRESPONDENCE PRINCIPLE

Niels Bohr is the author of two of the guiding principles of atomic physics. The first of these, the Correspondence Principle, states that any conception of the atom must go continuously over into the old concept as the dimensions become sufficiently large, while the principle of Complementarity states that the wave behavior and particle behavior of an atom are complementary and mutually exclusive.

Dr. Bohr, who is the founder of the Institute for Theoretical Physics in Copenhagen, was in Denmark when the Germans entered. He immediately stopped all work as a protest, finally going to Sweden in a fishing boat. From there he was flown to England in the bomb-bay of an R.A.F. Mosquito, and eventually reached Los Alamos, New Mexico.

MCGILL LAST TO HONOUR

In giving Dr. Bohr the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa, McGill is the last of a distinguished group of institutions to honor him. He came to Montreal with honorary degrees from Oxford, Edinburgh, and Oslo, among others, the Hughes Medal of the Royal Society, and the Nobel Prize.
